

Tigers Defeated By Hartford In Game Last Fri.

Hartford Takes Early Lead; Ahead 27-0 At Half

The Elba Tigers went down in the worst defeat of the season Friday night when they came out on the short end of a 35-0 ball game with Hartford. Hartford got off to an early start, scoring in the first five minutes and adding another touchdown later in the first quarter and two in the second quarter to lead 27 to 0 at the half.

Elba came back much stronger in the second half and held Hartford to a lone touchdown after pushing across one of their own. They played Hartford evenly during the second half but the damage had already been done.

Hartford's first TD came on a 10-yard run by Holland and was followed by another in the same quarter when Hartford intercepted a pass on their own 35 and drove down the field to that one out of the half. They scored twice in the second quarter, first on a pass that netted 20 yards and second on an intercepted pass that was run back 35 yards. Three extra points were made by passes and Hartford led 27 to 0 at the half.

The longest run of the game came in the third quarter when Morrow took the ball on Elba's 36-yard line, ran toward left tackle, reversed and ran down the right side for 60 yards before being stopped on the Hartford 4 yard line. McCollough picked up 3 at center and Farris went through for the score. The try for extra point failed and Elba trailed 27 to 6. Hartford added six more points in the fourth quarter, however, to end the scoring at 33 to 6. Neither team was again able to get into the opponents territory and the game ended as Elba intercepted a pass on the 50 yard line.

Morrow, by virtue of his 60 yard run was leading ground gainer for Elba and was followed by Farris and Rowell. Holland was easily the outstanding performer for the victors.

County Joins State Effort To Stamp Out Syphilis

Coffee County residents are now given the opportunity of joining Alabama's fight to rid the state of the dreadful disease, Syphilis. By the simple means of a blood test, most of the existing syphilis can be found and placed under treatment. In previous counties tested in the state, it is discovered that one out of every ten adults had a positive test. This disease attacks all races and groups of people. It destroys parental life, attacks the infant, invades the heart and brain of the adult and takes away sight and destroys the mind. When questioned about the dreadful results of syphilis, Dr. Garland Weldner, Coffee County Health Officer said, "Yes, it's true that syphilis is the cause of much untold suffering which could have been prevented had the disease been discovered in time. Many of the syphilitics walking the streets today do not know they have the disease. In many cases the early symptoms go unrecognized only to break out in later years in such things as hopeless paralysis, incurable insanity and heart disease and other crippling effects. If discovered early, by means of a blood test, these same people could have lived a normal, useful life."

The test itself is painless and simple. Trained nurses, using individual sterile needles perform the test in about a minute. All results will be confidential. No one except special

FIVE AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED ON JANUARY SIXTH

Montgomery — Holding the N. 1 spot on the ballot to be voted on January 6 will be the "self starter" amendment, which would authorize the state legislature to convene itself under certain conditions without the governor's call.

The order of the five amendments to be voted on by the people has been designated by the governor, and Secretary of State Sibyl Pool has advised Sen. James B. Allen of Etowah, author of the special session amendment, that the "self starter" plan will head the list.

The other amendments are:

2. To allow De Kalb County to levy a four-mill tax for public non-profit hospitals.

3. To allow the governing body of Marshall County to levy a gas tax for road purposes.

4. To authorize an election in Etowah County by any or all of three school districts—Gadsden, Attala and the portions of the county outside these cities—on an additional five-mill school tax.

5. To permit Calhoun County to vote on a school tax similar to the Etowah proposal.

This anniversary of one war's ending becomes even more significant when we also think in terms of the war which followed it. For each war is always bigger and more tragic than the last. We can create no more fitting memorial to all our war dead than the preservation of this world as a peaceful world in which their survivors can live in security.

ELBA'S VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT

owns and operates the ice plant in Elba.

I. Dorland, assistant chief, has charge of city water and light plants.

Cleo Hawkins, captain, employed by the Dixie Electric Company of Elba.

Phil English, Hardware salesman.

Bob Folsom. Also an electrician.

Doxier Roberts. Theater manager.

Sonny Inman, Jeweler.

Frazier Alladay. Filling station operator.

Ray Inman, Mechanic at Dorsey's.

P. H. Sellers. Manager Elba REA office.

W. H. Mullins, Planer mill employee.

So, the Elba fire department is well represented in a cross-section business way, and what's more, it is believed to be the only fire department in existence to count among its members a governor's brother and a mayor's son.

Jovial, fun loving Bob Folsom is a brother of Alabama's Gov.

When the fire whistle blows here, it sets off the closest thing to an atomic chain reaction to be found in these parts, neighbor. The moan of the siren explodes into action one of the finest volunteer fire departments in the state, and, if the blaze is anything short of a roaring inferno, it is utterly defeated and all wet in a matter of minutes.

Elba's fire department, headed by Chief Flournoy Whitman, is composed of 11 young men who love nothing better than to battle the confines of their respective business places, swarm aboard the modern, well-equipped fire truck, strung out the hose and gleefully pound some upstart fire into a wet mush.

Chief Whitman says—with pride but without boasting—that his well-organized crew can get water on a fire anywhere in Elba within a matter of two or three minutes from the time the whistle sounds.

Here's the personnel lineup of the department:

Flournoy Whitman, chief

"Big Jim" Folsom, and W. H. Mullins is a son of Elba Mayor L. P. Mullins.

Folsom, the firefighter, Sonny Inman, Roberts, and Sellers are Whitman's "nozzle men," and the chief says, "It just doesn't get too hot for them."

"Those four boys," the chief said, "will really pitch into a fire. They get right in there sub whiskers with it, and they get it out."

Ray Inman, the mechanic, is an ideal man to have at the truck—where his nimble fingers make necessary connections with maximum efficiency—but plans were laid for extension drilling and the securing of modern equipment, and the dozens of other details were worked out.

A gleaming red 500-gallon pumper Ford truck was purchased along with 2,200 feet of new hose, an adequate supply of connections, nozzles, uniforms and other accessories.

The department is drilled twice a month, and accurate records of all drills, runs and other fire department business are now kept. Fromen are paid $2 for each drill and each alarm.

American Education Week

Next week is American Education Week in American schools. Parent's Day will be observed in Elba schools Thursday, November 13. On this day parents of children in school are especially urged to visit the schools.

Every citizen of Elba, parent or not, should visit the school during this week. Our schools are one of our leading institutions and are taken too much for granted. It is the duty of citizens of the community to acquaint themselves with the school and know what conditions and practices exist there.

The school is second only to the home in influencing children morally, mentally and physically. Seeing that a child gets the proper schooling is just as important to a parent as seeing that he gets the proper food and keeps proper company.

Thanks to our modern system of education a mother can send her child to school in the morning confident that he will receive care and training that will be beneficial to him. However, too often she doesn't know just what he does at school, what methods of teaching are employed and what problems he is confronted with. Nor does she know what problems her child presents to the teacher.

National Education Week offers an opportunity for parents to acquaint themselves with the schools and the teachers. By visiting the schools and classes she is more able to understand the problems of both teacher and pupil and is in a better position to aid both of them. She also has a better appreciation of the value of school to the children.

School to most of us is the school we went to many years ago. We realize schools have changed considerably but rarely ever make it a point to find out just how and why they change. We take it for granted that schools keep abreast of the times and let it go at that.

Schools and teachers have done an admirable job. They accept all children as they come and install education in them to as high a degree as possible, each year turning out graduates that are equipped to enter college or to start out on their own in the world of business.

This institution that has such a great influence on our future population should be thoroughly familiar to us all. It should be recognized as the greatest asset to our community and should be recognized as our property. The schools are ours, paid for with our money. It is our duty to know as much about them as we do other property. The only way to find out about them is to visit them.

Closer cooperation between school and home, teacher and parent, will bring about better schools and will lessen the work of teacher and pupil. So visit your school next week, not to please your child, but to please yourself. The schools are yours—visit them and know them.

Farm Bureau Urges Price Support Legislation

Montgomery — Last week Walter L. Randolph, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation urged the House Agriculture Committee to include price support legislation in any permanent agricultural program which might be established in the future.

"The FBP is on record for loans at 100 per cent parity on basic crops," Randolph said. "Of course, there should be some provision to vary the loan rate with the supply and prospective demand for the commodity."

Randolph urged that appropriations for soil conservation be restored to $300,000,000 annually, while Haygood Patterson, state commissioner of agriculture, also appeared before the committee and explained that farmers in Alabama were worried about discriminatory freight rates. The agriculture commissioner added that there appears to be a tendency to cut down shipments of fertilizer into the state.

TURKEY REPORTS LISTED

Old McDonald has some turkeys on his farm, so the song goes, but just how many the song writer didn't say. From reports, however, the Alabama Extension Service estimates that 31 counties have 49,000 turkeys for sale the remainder of the year. Whether that number will be sufficient to load down the Thanksgiving and Christmas tables is not known at present.

In choosing the size of a refrigerator needed for the home, allow two cubic feet per person, and two extra feet for entertainment needs.

Such a development could come about as a result of further intensification of the world dollar famine.

Fitzgerald said present prospects indicate next year's supplies will be about 15 per cent below prewar on a per capita basis.

Nevertheless, many observers are of the opinion that 1948 will witness the development of an excess of supply over effective demand at current relatively high prices which may amount to as much as 1,000,000 tons.

United States consumption this year will exceed 7,000,000 tons. Fitzgerald said the prospects of a possible surplus might cause a downturn in production. Hence, he added, action needs to be taken to assure an outlet for all that can be produced because other foods may continue short for another year or so.

SUGAR SURPLUS IS WORLD FORECAST NEXT YEAR

The world may see a sugar surplus next year equivalent to about one-seventh of the amount this country consumes, the International Emergency Food Council heard today.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, council secretary-general, said this may happen even though total production is below prewar and many countries consume much less than before the war.

Such a development could come about as a result of further intensification of the world dollar famine.

Fitzgerald said present prospects indicate next year's supplies will be about 15 per cent below prewar on a per capita basis.

Bank Deposits In State Increase $10 Million

Montgomery — According to the last bank call, Alabama's 153 banks show an increase in deposits by $10,516,737. Brooks Glass, director of the State Department of Commerce, disclosed last week.

The most recent state bank call was on June 30 at which time the total loans and discounts of the state banks figured $879,217,955. Although the total assets of the banks showed a total decline of $20,800,000 at the June call as compared to the report at the end of 1946, Glass explained this as a normal drop, attributed to post-war business planning and commercial and home building expenditures by customers.

Glass said that U. S. Government securities that were held on June 30 totaled $132,156,551, and that the $9,888,301 decrease from the $322,855,623 at the first of the year to $302,967,322 was caused in part by short term maturities.

"Also," Glass said, "banks are selling government bonds of low interest rates and buying local county and municipal bonds for a higher interest rate."

Search For Oil In Alabama Is Delayed For Pipe

Montgomery — An acute shortage of pipe is holding back the beginning of an intense search for oil in Southwest Alabama. Dr. Walter B. Jones, state oil and gas supervisor, disclosed last week.

Dr. Jones explained that the major interest was in Humble Oil and Refining Company's Washington County well, where the company plans to drill down to a two-mile depth—the state's deepest so far attained in oil excavation. The well is located in the vicinity of Chilton.

The state and oil supervisor said that present explorations included a number of projects being conducted along old shore lines to the west of the Tombigbee River.

BEES MAKE OVERTIME PRODUCTION

Probably one worker that hasn't been on strike this year is the bee. Although bees in Alabama are produced chiefly for package bee shipments to the north, the restless little insect-keepers have been packing honey into their hives. This year 18 pounds of honey were produced by an average colony in the state.

SCRIPTURE: 1 Peter; Daniel 1. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 24.

A Call to Right Living

Lesson for November 9, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the first chapter of Daniel. It is a temperance lesson. It is suggested that we read the 24th Psalm, in which we find this question: "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord?" And the answer, "He that hath clean hands and a pure heart."

Peter gives us a shining example of temperance. And the 24th Psalm gives us a dramatic concept of what it means to face God in the right attitude of life.

Dr. Newton

How to Grow Strong

Our doctors tell us how to grow strong, sound bodies. We are to eat the right food, sleep regularly, breathe deeply, etc., etc. Daniel did all these things, and something more—"Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's wine which he drank; therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself." Daniel 1:8.

Daniel was challenged by the prince of the eunuchs. He predicted that Daniel and his companions would become pale and weak if they refrained from eating the king's meat and drinking the king's wine. Finally he agreed for them to refrain from meat and wine for ten days, and at the end of the ten days, behold, Daniel and his companions appeared fatter and faster than those who had eaten intemperately.

Every Youth Must Choose

AS DANIEL chose to grow strong through temperate habits of eating and drinking, so must every youth choose between right living and lustful living. We have laws against drunkenness, for example, but legislation alone cannot produce a generation of temperate young men and women. Each boy and each girl must choose for himself and herself between temperance and intemperance.

And this lesson sets out the ways by which such choices can be made and sustained. I find a helpful word in I Corinthians 10:31: "Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink or whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

As we make the choice between drunkenness and sobriety, let us remember that we are choosing between God and Satan; not between the example of honorable parents and the example of people who have desecrated every sanctity. This lesson is a call to right living.

Disciplined Lives

WHICH calls to mind a word that we have not always treated fairly. I am thinking of the word "discipline." Too often we have regarded this word as something very austere, when, as a matter of fact, it is one of the really fine words of our language. It means "one taught." It is the word which, with slight difference in spelling, gives us "disciple."

The immediate followers of Jesus were called disciples. They were young men, gathered up from the everyday pursuits of life. Most of them were fishermen—men who faced hardships every night as they confronted wind and wave. And yet these rough and tumble fishermen became "the taught" ones of Jesus. They yielded to his discipline. They were pupils in the school of Christ.

That is what this lesson is aiming at—to enlist many, many pupils in the school of Christ.

The Test of Time

MAKE this test in your community, whether you live in the city or in the country. Look at the lives of the men and women about you, and draw your own conclusions regarding the worth of temperate living. Study the lives of the drunkards against the lives of the men and women who have refrained from strong drink. Study the lives of the gamblers and see if they have really won.

I appeal to the verdict of history—the test of time. Not only in the case of Daniel, but in the lives of the men and women in every community in America is daily borne out the truth of Sunday's lesson—that God giveth us richly all things to enjoy, but we must use his gifts with disciplined minds.

State Approves REA Loan For Steam Plant at Gantt

Montgomery — Last week the administration gave the nod to the highly controversial $516,000 REA loan for the Alabama Electric Cooperative, Inc., slated to be used in the construction of a generating plant at Gantt, Ala.

The decision by Finance Director W. H. Drinkard to overrule the stand taken by John P. Shaffer, chief of the local finance division, and approve the loan came after a conference with Gov. Folsom and Shaffer on the matter.

Drinkard said that the evidence offered by Gordon Persons, President of the Alabama Public Service Commission, before the recent hearing on the loan was one of the contributing factors which caused him to override Shaffer's decision.

The whole controversy centered around whether or not the State Finance Dept. would approve an REA loan for the building of a steam plant by the Alabama Electric Co-op. The Alabama Power company and other utility representatives testified that power from this new project was needed for rural dwellers and farmers.

On the other hand Gordon Persons, former head of the State Rural Electrification Authority set up under the Graves administration, stated, "There is an acute power shortage in Alabama, particularly in southeast Alabama where this plant is needed. Power from this proposed plant will be sold wholesale to other co-operatives and municipalities, who in turn dispense it to their customers."

Persons said the many new homes and businesses which have been developed in southeast Alabama during recent years have created a heavy drain on the power facilities, and today there exists a desperate shortage.

Persons said at the hearing, "This is the old question of enterprise again. The reason Alabama Power Company is fighting the loan so hard is that they are now transmitting power to other utilities to sell to the co-operatives in southeast Alabama."

"There is a great need for this plant to be built at Gantt," Persons added, "and as President of the Alabama Public Service Commission, I will do everything I can to see that these people are provided with the power they are short of today."

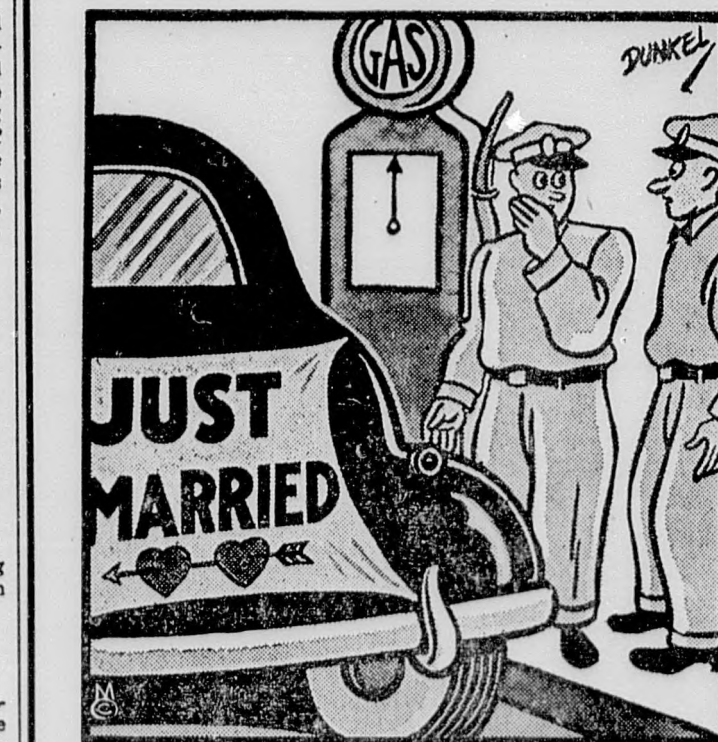

Montgomery — At a rate of one every four and a half hours, an Alabamian died as a result of some kind of accident during the month of August, the State Health Department disclosed last week.

Statistics reveal that accidents of various kinds caused 168 deaths over the state in the last summer month, while there were only 129 recorded deaths in Alabama during July.

The State Bureau of Vital Statistics showed that 92 deaths resulted from occupational accidents; 39 resulted from domestic accidents; 42 deaths were caused by trains and boats and some kind of accident during the month of August, the State Health Department disclosed last week.

The highways claimed the highest number of victims with 63 listed as dead as a result of traffic mishaps.
